Oh, Central High, with spirit grand
We think of other days;
Our thoughts like milestones backward turn
When on this school we gaze;
Our grip grows strong,
Bold rings our song
When these loud cheers we raise;
Here's victory and deeds of fame,
We give you all our praise.

In Memoriam

The many friends of Richard (Dick) Cotner sincerely set aside this page of his school's yearbook in memory of him. Dick, who passed away in June of 1951, is sadly missed by both his classmates and his teachers. Active in many church, school, and Boy Scout activities, he will be best remembered for his fine character and his great capacity for friendship.

In Recognition

We, of the Annual Mirror, wish to dedicate our book to Miss Jeanette E. Stuart in recognition and appreciation of her many years as the advisor of this publication. Under her superior guidance and due to her initiative and perseverance the yearbook achieved an eminent position in the lives of all the students of Central.

GORDON G. HUMBERT, B. S., M. A.

Ohio State University

Superintendent of Schools

Greetings to the Class of 1952:

Commencement gives you the final push out of the "nest" into a different world. From here on you will be in competition with an adult world that can be as generous and kind as it can be cynical and cruel.

Many may tell you that your country and your world are in their worst conditions since the dawn of history. Cold and hot wars, scandals and graft, corruption, and low morals exist everywhere. Such conditions affect the talk of unthinking people.

Need you be told that this is not the picture of the REAL AMERICA? America may be ill, but she is not dying. There is much work to be done, and the school that has trained you expects you to do your part.

To achieve success and happiness you will have to work. You have had to work in school; you must continue to work. There is a place for each and every one of you who has learned to control his own mind, who has faith in the future, and who has resolved in his own heart to make his life count.

Do not stumble, hesitate, or quit. Have faith in your own dignity and worth. Guard the excellence in mind and character which you possess. May your spiritual experiences transcend the materialistic aspects of life.

Sincerely,

Gordon G. Humbert

Board of Education

To the Class of 1952:

As you look back over the past twelve years and reflect on your achievements, you sometimes wonder what you have gained. It is easy to analyze the results of an education in concrete terms. Perhaps it would be better to reflect the major highlights of things to come, and see if you are prepared to meet them.

Do you understand fully the meaning of democracy and how to live it? Do you recognize that you must always carry your share in any community where you may live? You must keep strong the home, the church, and the school, as these are the primary assets in any democratic country. Morally you must be guided with a true knowledge that separates wrong from right. You must also have an understanding of the true concept of sharing with others in order that they might share with you.

To each of the seniors as citizens of this great land the heritage is yours to carry forth the torch of freedom for not only generations to come in this land but for peoples throughout the entire world.

Sincerely,

Howard C. Grove

Assistant Principal

Dean of Boys

To the Boys of the Class of 1952:

I commend you highly on the successful completion of the second phase of your educational program. Many of you will continue this program in institutions of higher learning, some in industry, and others in the armed service of our country. To all of you I wish continued success and with it express the hope that the traits of unselfishness, uprightness, trustworthiness, loyalty, and moral courage, which this school has tried to develop in you and which this world at the present time so screly needs, are not found deficient.

Sincerely,

H. W. Scheuerman

To the Girls of the Class of 1952:

Congratulations to you all in your achievements at Central High School. It has been both a pleasure and a privilege to work with you the last six years.

My good wishes go to each one of you in your activities after you leave us. You must realize that you are individuals, potential with leadership and faced continually with the obligations of intelligent decision and self-direction.

I hope that you will continue to make the motto of Central High School—"For Central I Will"—a dominate factor throughout your life's work.

Sincerely,

Gayle H. Howey

Senior Scholarship

At approximately 8 A. M. on Saturday, February 2, 1952, thirty-five nervous Central seniors walked into room 307, prepared to take the annual Senior Scholarship test. Four hours later thirty-five weary and confused Central seniors stumbled out, hoping that their four years of study had not been entirely in vain.

The Senior Scholarship test was given by the Division of Testing of the State Department of Education to determine those eligible for college scholarships. Students permitted to take the test were chosen from the top fifteen per cent of the Senior Class.

Director - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. Harold O. Clark

This year the Senior Band, wearing red and green uniforms, was one of the important attractions at Central's football games. It was always on hand before the games and during the half to supply the crowd with musical entertainment.

In the band were eighty-four boys and girls from grades eight through twelve, who practiced in room 208 every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during first period and at the City Park before school throughout the football season.

The band held its annual concert in the auditorium on May 16 and participated in the Band Festival at Defiance on May 9.

Senior Orchestra

President - - - Jim Dudley - - always greets you with a smile
Vice-President - - - Dick Ruhlen - - really plays that trumpet
Secretary - - - Jane Weisenbarger - takes notes and plays them, too
Treasurer - Reva Newcomer - between booms she counts the money
Director - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. Harold O. Clark

The Senior Orchestra was responsible for the fine music which filled the halls every Tuesday and Thursday during the first period. In the orchestra this year were forty-eight ambitious boys and girls, who certainly accomplished a great deal in the field of music.

Some of the orchestra's activities this year were playing the introductions for the school plays and participating in the district auditions, in which a number of Central's musicians received superior ratings. On May 16 in the auditorium its annual concert was presented to the public.

Junior Band

President - - - - Lenn Geiger - - - - - - takes the front seat
Vice-President - - - - - Vivian Gallant - really a good substitute
Secretary - - - Marilyn Ellis - - - the "Pied Piper" of the band
Treasurer - - Colleen Wellman - hmm, not much money here to count!
Director - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. Harold O. Clark

Every second period on Tuesday and Thursday room 208 was filled with the harmony of the Junior Band's fifty-two members. This eager group of young musicians, attired for special occasions in red and green uniforms, practiced industriously, looking toward positions in next year's Senior Band.

Their main event of the year was the Junior Festival, presented to the public in Central's auditorium on May 23.

Treasurer - - - - Marilyn Ellis - - - - - - sorry, broke again
Director - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. Harold O. Clark

"Practice makes perfect" was the motto of the twenty-seven members of the Junior Orchestra. These musicians, who were willing to work and to work hard, practiced in room 208, every Monday and Wednesday during the second period.

The orchestra rehearsed diligently for its main performance, the Junior Festival, which was presented to the public on May 23 in Central's auditorium.

Next year will see a number of these musicians proudly playing in Central's senior orchestra.

Swingphonettes

Director - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. Harold O. Clark

"Who will play for the dance?" This question was never asked at Central. We had our own twenty-one piece dance band, the Swingphonettes. These musicians played not only for dances, but for plays and wherever else the use of a full band was impractical.

On Mondays from 5:30 until 7:00 p. m. they were found practicing in room 208. Their contribution to our school was greatly appreciated by all.

Mixed Ensemble

Accompanist - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Marjorie Roeder

Advisor - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Mr. William G. Tempel

The Mixed Ensemble was a representative group of the Senior A Cappella Choir. The ensemble, composed of nine girls and eight boys, was chosen from the Senior Choir by tryouts. It met every Tuesday and Thursday during the sixth period in room 208.

When the whole choir was not able to be present, the members of the ensemble presented musical entertainment for several service and luncheon clubs and for a number of our school assemblies.

Senior A Cappella Choir

President	Phil Beach	if you please!
Secretary	Mary Lou Reid	sweet one
Treasurer	Carl Aspinall	money—what's that?
Librarian	Barbara Miller	pass out the music, Barb
Accompanists	Barbara Jones and Marjorie Roeder	wish I could play like that!
Director	Mr. William G. Tempel

The Senior Choir was composed of eighty talented students from grades ten through twelve. It met during the sixth period every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in room 208, or in the auditorium. The new members of the choir had been chosen by tryouts held the previous spring.

During the past year the Senior A Cappella not only provided musical programs for the school's Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, and pep assemblies, but also for school radio programs and adult service clubs.

On April 18 the Senior Choir went to Cleveland to sing at the Lakewood High School concert, and on April 25 Lakewood High School came to Central to give a return musical performance. The Spring Festival was the climax of the efforts of the choir during the past year.

One passing by room 261 on Monday the fifth period, or on Friday the sixth period, heard sweet strains of music. Responsible for these was the Central's Girls' General Chorus, composed of forty girls from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades.

The girls sang three selections for the Senior Christmas assembly. Later in the season they sang for Central's radio club, provided the music for the spring assembly, and gave their annual Minstrel Show. Their fine ability and talent made the past year a very successful one.

The Seventh Year Chorus might have been the youngest choral group at Central, but the efforts and talent put forth by these seventy teenagers was truly remarkable. The group met every Thursday during homeroom period in room 261. The organization's objective was to prepare those who were interested in furthering their musical activities.

The chorus gave its Christmas selections for Junior Assembly and for the Sunday Vesper service. The group also gave a fine performance at the annual Spring Concert held in May.

"Follow the Dream" by Florence Ryerson and Alice D. G. Miller was presented by the Senior Class in Central's auditorium on April 4. The play told the story of Joan Cameron, a girl whose life was divided between North and South America. Starting on the eve of her wedding day, when she suddenly found herself undecided as to her choice of bridegrooms, the production relived her school life and her love story, involving Spike Harrison, a typical athletic product of the United States, and the impish, lovable Ricardo Fernandez Calderon de Alvarado, an equally characteristic product of his homeland, Peru. Until the final minute the audience was unable to guess which of the two boys Joan had decided to marry, or, indeed, whether a wedding would take place at all. A quick twist, however, brought a solution which was both unexpected and satisfying.

In the auditorium at 8:00 p. m. on Friday, November 16, 1951, the Junior Class of Central High School presented "Junior Mister," a three act comedy by Barry Heenan.

Harold Hastings' troubles began when he failed an English literature examination. Given a chance to redeem himself, his teacher, Miss Hamilton, required that he quote King Lear's speech from memory. To make matters worse, in fulfilling a further English assignment, Harold wrote a one act play portraying his father's employer's family, the Prices. Miss Hamilton considered Harold's play to be most entertaining of all the students'. She, therefore, decided to present this as entertainment for the alumni party and, ironically enough, the Prices, alumni of Fairview High School, were among the spectators at this event.

When Mr. Price saw the play, he realized that his family and the enacted family were identical. He was not offended, however, because in the end it was proved that he was not the "stupe" that everyone had previously thought him to be. Since the production ended with Mr. Price the hero, he decided to reproduce the play on the Price Department Store's radio programs.

The climax came when Harold, assisted by his new girl friend, Frances Price, could recite from memory King Lear's opening speech.

The Troubadours, consisting of seventy thespians from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, met during the regular club period every fourth Wednesday to conduct their business meetings and to present their short plays. These plays offered each member an opportunity to portray his ability and talent through active participation.

Their main production was "Take Care of My Little Girl", presented on February 1 in the auditorium.

On February 1 the auditorium was the scene of the Troubadours' annual play. They gave a fine performance in their rendition of Peggy Goodin's play, "Take Care of My Little Girl".

The plot centered around the Queens, a sorority for the chosen few. Liz, a small town girl, sought admission to the Queens because of her mother's experience in the sorority. After being accepted, Liz discovered how self-centered the sorority was and wasted no time in leaving it to return to her old friends in the dormitory.

Whether the script called for sobbing, screaming, laughing, or frowning, the Masqueraders were skillfull at portraying various characters. In the Masqueraders Club this year were thirty-seven eighth and ninth graders, chosen by tryouts, who were interested in learning to act, and to direct plays. They met the first Wednesday in every month in room 249 under the leadership of their advisor.

The annual play, "Hands Up", which was the club's main event, was presented to the Junior High students in Central's auditorium on February 28. Two other plays put on to entertain the members of the club were "Pop Reads a Christmas Carol" and "Butch".

Room 258 was the scene of much activity every third Tuesday, when the thirty-eight members of the Seventh Grade Thespians met to hold their short plays and regular business meetings.

Their outstanding event of the year was the annual play, "Herbie the Hero", held in the auditorium for Junior assembly. The play was given Tuesday, February 26.

The ability and the fine performance of this group proved that its members will go far in the field of dramatics at Central.

In excited anticipation the student body and the public crowded into the Central auditorium at 7:30 on May 2 to see the first National Thespian play, "Mr. Barry's Etchings".

It was a hilarious comedy revolving about Judson Barry, an enthusiastic etcher, who, simply as a pastime, made a marvelous imitation of the United States fifty dollar bill. Because the town where Barry lived was in the hands of a strong political organization run by crooks, he distributed his counterfeit bills to worthy causes. The town was well on the way to recovery when "Fifty" Ferris and "Sawbuck" Sam appeared and proposed a partnership whereby Barry would supply the bills and they would distribute them. This situation brought the discovery of what Barry had done and the attention of a wealthy movie executive who offered him a huge sum of money for the story of his life. Barry accepted on the condition that he be given the equivalent in good money of the fifty dollar counterfeits. The money was all exchanged, and Barry looked forward to a short jail term in peace and quiet.

The National Thespian Dramatic Society was organized to create a more active and intelligent interest in dramatics. Participation in at least two plays with a total of twelve points and the approval of the troup sponsor were the requirements for membership. Those chosen to become members were initiated at the annual spring banquet and were awarded pins and letters of recommendation for college dramatics.

On May 2, 1952, history was made at Central High School. For the first time since its charter date in 1943, the National Thespian Club presented a play of its own, "Mr. Barry's Etchings".

The articles were all written, the names all checked. The ads were all in and the pictures all taken. Somehow everything was completed on time. The rush was all over and the Annual Mirror was put to bed. Wearily the staff wandered home, prayerfully hoping that there were no mistakes.

The members of the Annual Mirror staff were chosen at the beginning of the year through tryouts. They were then appointed to a staff and given their assignments for the year. In addition to these assignments, many long hours were spent the second semester in room 348 the seventh and eighth periods. Many times the lights were burning far into the night as the staff members worked diligently. Now they could relax and wait to see the fruit of their labor, a memorable book which would reflect all the activities of the past school year.

"Mirrors tonight! Who forgot to get the Mirrors? Where's my paper?" There was a mad scramble and papers flew through the air. For a moment it looked as though a hurricane had struck, but suddenly a lull came over the room, and the students were lost in the contents of their papers. This was the scene ten times a year.

Little did the students realize how much work it took to bring them that news. All the articles had to be written, proof-read, and rewritten before they made their final appearance. Articles had to be typed and ads collected.

To bring us this fine paper the members of the Mirror staff put in many hours of hard work in room 348 seventh period, and they worked at least two nights after school the week that the Mirror went to press.

Last spring along with the annual election of class officers for the following year the students elected the members of the Student Council. These twenty-eight students met in room 207 every Monday during the fifth period, and whenever a pressing problem arose. Under the supervision of the principal, they capably executed the duties of a student governing body and organized several new activities of special interest to the students.

One of the most important organizations sponsored by this group was the Girls' Council, whose members were chosen by an appointed Student Council committee. The council also sponsored the following activities: The handbook, the lost and found, the bulletin board, the election committee, the assembly committee, the student court, the magazine drive, the coronation of the Homecoming and May King and Queen, the school's civil defense program, and the Dragon Seal contest.

This year the members of the Girls' Council were chosen by a special committee from the Student Council. These twenty-eight girls met on the second Monday of every month in room 348. Under the supervision of the dean of girls they very successfully carried out an effective girls' social program.

At the beginning of the year the Girls' Council sponsored a party for all new students to help them become better acquainted with Central. During the fall they ushered at the football games, the proceeds of which they used to redecorate the Teachers' Study. In order to furnish a set of silverware and dishes for the Home Economics Department they started a campaign to collect coupons, which the students saved. In February they held a Valentine tea for members of the faculty. The members of the council also made posters for the halls to promote cleanup campaigns. Their most important activity of the year was the girls' assembly, at which Mrs. Roberson spoke on "How To Live".

The members of the Junior Red Cross may not have treated patients, but, nevertheless, they played an important part in helping other people.

The activities they undertook were the same as in the past. They raised money by selling pencils, and by the generous donations of both teachers and students during their campaign. Most of this money was turned in to the local and the national Red Cross headquarters, but some was kept to finance Central's club.

As last year, they filled boxes with clothes and toys for children in countries devastated by war. The patients of the local hospitals also enjoyed their handiwork through the varied favors placed on service trays.

If you'd like to have fun and help others in the way these students did, be sure to join next year's Junior Red Cross.

Homecoming and May King and Queen

Before the Findlay-Central football game on October 12, 1951, Carolyn Allen and Bob Bassitt were crowned Homecoming Queen and King. The queen and her attendants, Marcia Snook and Lillian Fisher, were brought across the field on a large white float. When they reached the west stand, they stepped down and were met by the king and his courtiers, Mervyn Hawkins and Sonny Nanchoff. The president of the Student Council adorned the queen with a crown of baby orchids and the king with a wreath of olive leaves. Following the ceremony the queen reigned over the game.

In April, 1951, Joan Reed and Allen Kelly were crowned May Queen and King by the president of the Student Council. The coronation took place before a large drop of tissue flowers on Central's front steps. The royalty were attended by seniors, Lynn Ault and Nancy Barton, Jenelle Rochelle and Emil Chiles; juniors, Joyce Bingham and Dick Meredith; sophomores, Janet Ellis and Fred Zimerle; freshmen, Judy Miller and Ed Berthold.

This year as in previous years the Who's Who contest was under the supervision of the Student Council. Students from grades ten through twelve voted during homeroom period for the students whom they believed deserved recognition. The results were announced at the Whozit Whirl held on February 21. The winners were presented badges stating their specific title.

Although it was organized two years ago, the Home Economics Council made outstanding progress this year. It drew up a badly needed constitution whereby it could function successfully. Up until then there had been no definite procedure by which to choose its members democratically, or to conduct its meetings properly. This year's members were chosen by a committee consisting of several teachers and the officers, previously elected by the girls interested in the council.

Besides producing their annual fashion show, the members campaigned for new silverware and helped other organizations in the purchase of new china. In the future these new table settings will be used at teachers' teas and other parties involving the school.

The Adelphi chapter of the Hi-Y consisted of thirty-five of Central's most energetic and hard-working boys. The club, which was open to boys in grades nine through twelve, held its meetings at the Y.M.C.A. every Monday evening at eight o'clock. To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character was the aim of this club.

This year the club was unusually active. Some of its many activities were: conducting its induction services at Trinity Church, sponsoring the noon movies, selling concessions at the basketball games, sponsoring a Christmas party for underprivileged children, selling Lima Central balloons, sending delegates to the International Hi-Y Convention at Cleveland, and holding a wiener roast and swimming party.

The members of the Pi Kappa Phi Hi-Y symbolized very high ideals. An example of this was to be found in their creed—"to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character".

The twenty-seven boys, who were members of this group, met at the Y.M.C.A. in room 204 every Monday night. The boys chose all incoming members through balloting.

Among the many activities in which the members of this Hi-Y participated were picnics, and refreshment parties, which were held once a month after their meetings. They also sold pennants, school license tags, basketball programs and operated the checkroom at Central's basketball games, the proceeds of which were presented to designated benefits.

The Senior Y-Teens was an organization of fifty senior girls. Its main theme was world service, which was demonstrated in many ways, such as donating candy bars, which were sent overseas, sending a basket of food to a needy family at Christmas, and helping to raise fifty dollars for World Fellowship.

Do you remember the beautiful mums many girls wore to the South-Central football game? The members of the Senior Y-Teens sold these mums to the student body as their sole money-making project.

The most interesting Y-Teen meeting, in which everyone participated, concerned vocations. At other gatherings the girls were shown movies pertaining to school and community service.

Social events also entered into the club life of the Senior Y-Teens. The girls assisted the Y.W.C.A. in the "Hanging of the Greens," in which they decorated the building for Christmas.

For the first time in the history of the Y-Teens, the sponsors met with the club officers. At this meeting, which was in the form of a dinner, their projects for both the summer and national conventions were planned.

All junior girls who were interested in group activities joined the Eleventh Y-Teens. The meetings were held in room 202, or at the Y.W.C.A., every first and third Wednesday. The purpose of this club was to promote fellowship with a Christian atmosphere among girls.

Some of the activities in which the thirty-five girls participated were a cider and doughnut party at the Y.W.C.A., a talk by the human relations teacher on boy-girl relations, preparing a basket of food which was given to a needy family, sending a box of candy bars to Hong Kong, China, a scavenger hunt, and a tea for the senior girls.

Fifty-six freshman girls, who wished to participate in Y-Teen activities, met this year either at school, or the Y.W.C.A., every second and fourth Wednesday. The purpose of this organization was to promote understanding and fellowship among girls, and to help others.

At Christmas the girls went caroling and held a party afterwards at the Y. For Valentine's Day they enjoyed making tray favors for the patients at both St. Rita's and Memorial hospitals. In the spring they had a box lunch and a scavenger hunt.

Fifty-four eighth grade girls, interested in Y.W.C.A. programs, joined the Eighth Grade Y-Teens. The girls, who met at school, or at the Y.W.C.A. every second and fourth Wednesday, worked to promote brotherhood and good fellowship.

Shortly before Christmas a party was held at the Y.W.C.A. for the Eighth Year Y-Teens groups from both South and Central. The girls dramatized skits about the Young Women's Christian Association and heard the Y-Teen advisor of the Lima Chapter speak on the purpose of the Y. During a February meeting a motion picture, "Wheels a'Rolling," which depicted the history of trains and railroads in America, was shown.

Remember the girls who sold March of Dimes tags on the downtown streets one Saturday last winter? These were the forty-five Seventh Y-Teens' members, who, although they were new to Central, really went to work to become one of Central's most active organized groups. The club met every second and fourth Wednesday in room 349, or at the Y.W.C.A. To learn to work and play together in a Christian fellowship was the aim of the club.

Some of the many activities in which the girls participated included collecting tax stamps, sending candy bars to Hong Kong, preparing a Christmas basket of groceries for a needy family, putting on an amateur program, sponsoring a white elephant sale, and producing a playlet.

This year the Library Club was reorganized with the assistance of Central's librarian. The club was open to all students who were interested in library work. These students devoted from one to five study halls a week to working in the library.

The librarian gave them reference work, in order that they might be able to find reference material quickly and easily. They also checked books out, shelved them, and took fines. This experience qualified the student librarians for summer, or part-time jobs in a library.

The assistants from both South and Central met at the Main Branch Library for a party during the Christmas holidays. After the group saw movies and toured the building, refreshments were served.

Those strange odors termed "educational" that escaped from rooms 102 and 106 on the first and third Wednesdays during the past year were the result of the scientific experiments performed by the Science Club.

The purpose of the club was to give those students in grades nine through twelve who were interested in science a chance to experiment more freely in biology, chemistry, and physics. Some of these members submitted entries to Science Day held at Bowling Green University on April 5.

The Radio Club provided an opportunity for the students of Central High School to participate in a most modern type of communication. Members of this club planned scripts, announced programs, or scouted for school talent.

The thirty-one members of the Radio Club were chosen by competitive tryouts at the beginning of the school year. Meetings scheduled by their advisor were held either in room 112, or room 208. Every Wednesday the club's broadcast came to the public over WIMA from four o'clock to four-fifteen.

At their recognition party held at the end of the school year all the members received certificates and some, due to outstanding work, received pins.

The objective of the projectionists this year was to learn the mechanism of the movie projectors and how to operate them. The boys devoted many of their study halls to showing movies to classes and assemblies.

The dean of boys selected this group from boys in grades nine through twelve who applied at the beginning of the school year. The requirement for membership was a grade average of two, scholastically. In the meetings, which were under the direction of their advisor, the boys discussed the problems they had encountered in their work.

The award received for one year's participation was a certificate, a service pin was given for two years, and for three years a letter was presented.

Le Cercle Francais was the French Club, composed of thirty culture-minded students, which met in room 306. If an English-speaking person had walked into that room he would have been dumbfounded. Those club members joked, sang, and talked—all in French!

Although they conversed in a foreign tongue, these students had a very conventional list of activities. They gave a Valentine party, an evening party, and sponsored a movie. The French Club also offered an excellent opportunity for practice in speaking French.

The Distributive Education Club was an activity of the Distributive Education Course. The twenty-five members met in room 254 every first and third Friday. The purpose of this club, as stated in the constitution adopted by the Association of Ohio, was to provide for mental and physical health through satisfactory social and recreational activities, to create in each member an abiding interest in his occupation, and to foster a deep feeling of responsibility for contributing to the civic, social, and moral business.

The club made field trips to several local industries such as radio station WIMA, the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Company, the North Star Woolen Mills, and the Gro-Cord Rubber Company. Its Christmas project was to clothe a child, whose name was received from a welfare agency.

E. A. Hauenstein Memorial Award

Lynn Ault, the winner of last year's E. A. Hauenstein Memorial Award, stood first scholastically in his class of one hundred seventy-three seniors. His activities for the year included Student Council, president; Senior A Cappella, president; Cross Country; and Varsity Track.

The E. A. Hauenstein Memorial Award is presented each year to the senior boy who has, through his activities at Central, proved himself to be the most worthy of this outstanding honor. The winner of this award is selected on the basis of five qualifications: co-operation, sportsmanship, leadership, scholarship, and honor.

The coach of each sport submits to the award committee the name of a boy whom he believes shows the greatest amount of sportsmanship. The committee, after receiving these names and reviewing the other qualifications, summarizes this information and finally selects a boy who most nearly meets the exacting standards.

Athletic Department

While the teams of Central were playing outstanding games, the student body had a tendency to forget those who made possible these contests. They neglected to think of the persons who had trained the teams' members, or of the money that was needed to outfit them.

The members of the Athletic Department worked quietly behind the scenes, smoothing out the rough spots to make sure that sports would remain an important extra-curricular feature at Central. Many thanks to them for their excellent co-operation.

Senior Football Lettermen

These eighteen hard-fighting senior lettermen led Central's 1951 football team to one of its most successful seasons in many years.

Beginning drills in late summer, the boys practiced every night after school, rain or shine. They spent many weary hours perfecting their blocking, tackling, passing, and running. For many it was their sixth straight year of football at Central.

Although every one of these boys will be hard to replace, they have set an example and a goal for all future Central gridders to attain.

Any girl or boy who won a varsity letter in cheerleading, football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, or golf automatically became a member of the "C" Association.

Because of the high requirements to attain membership, this association could indeed be called an honor club. It required many hours of strenuous practice after school in addition to keen competition in the various athletic groups to earn a varsity letter, which was the sole requirement for membership.

The "C" Association's two big projects for the year were the selling of school supplies in the auditorium box office and their annual spring dinner-dance.

By winning eight games and losing one, Central's 1951 football team compiled the second best record in the history of the Dragons. During the season Central made over three times as many points as its foes, scoring two hundred eighty-six points compared with the eighty-four points tallied by its opponents.

The sports' writers of Ohio shared the student body's opinion that Central had an outstanding football team. The Dragons won a high rating in the Associated Press Poll, and many of the team's members were voted to positions on the All-Ohio team.

"Bring on the 'hamburger squad'!" was what one heard if he happened to be at Horace Mann School during a Central football practice. This meant that the coach wanted the reserve team over on the varsity field for a scrimmage with the "glory boys". Through these scrimmages the reserves developed the coordination of mind and body necessary in football.

The reserve squad had a successful season this year, winning four and losing two games. A number of the team saw action in the varsity tilts. This experience will prove invaluable to the boys when they reach the varsity squad.

When the call for Freshman Football sounded this year, shortly after school started, more than forty boys reported to Faurot Park. Ten weeks and many bruises later thirty-two players remained in the final squad.

In practice sessions tackling, blocking, and ball handling were stressed. This individual work, though sometimes dull and tiring, was just as important as the drill conducted as a team.

While the season could not be called a winning one, the boys made up for an uninspiring record by their enthusiasm and eagerness to learn. The record—one win, two losses, and three ties—showed what a few bad breaks, namely pass interceptions and fumbles, can do to a team.

The Dragon Yearlings were large and fast, and revealed much promise. The training the boys received this year will be invaluable in the next three years.

Junior High Football

This fall after the school routine had been well established, the first Junior High Football practice of the season was held. Practices were conducted at Faurot Park near the Bear Pit. There, the more than sixty-five football-loving youngsters practiced two hours each night for almost two months.

Much to the footballers' dismay, junior high teams are not permitted to schedule games with other schools. The boys, however, received plenty of experience in scrimmage games with the freshmen and among themselves.

Much of the practice time was filled with drills and fundamentals. These boys deserve a great deal of credit for the untiring effort that they put forth.

The Central Varsity Basketball team, which consisted of seven lettermen from last year, turned in an admirable record at the end of the season. The team practiced after school in the senior gym and in several gyms in Lima's surrounding area.

The boys won nine of their regularly scheduled games, and did outstandingly well in the tournament. In the sectionals at Bluffton the Dragons defeated Wapakoneta, Findlay, and St. Marys. At Toledo they defeated Mansfield for the district championship, but were overcome in the regionals by the mighty Toledo Central Catholic team.

Senior Basketball Lettermen

The eight senior basketball lettermen gave Central some of its best basketball in Dragon history. For two consecutive years these boys and their teammates were among the last sixteen teams to be eliminated in the Ohio Class A tournament.

Placing two players on the all-district honor team and two on the all regional team this year, they wound up their last season with a fine brand of basketball and a show of sportsmanship that will be hard to surpass.

Fancy dribbling, flashy passing, spectacular and accurate shooting, and a very satisfactory record were the outstanding highlights of this year's Junior Varsity's season. The long hook shots and the spinning lay-up shots made the reserve games exciting and breathtaking to watch. The season's record—eight wins and five losses—was one of the best reserve records of the past decade.

Practices were held in the senior high gym on weekdays and in South's gym every Wednesday night. Much of the Varsity's style and teamwork were developed through scrimmage games with these reserve players. By the end of the season several Reserves were proficient enough to be advanced to the varsity squad.

This year's Junior Basketball season was a most successful one. The junior high hoopsters were undefeated with eleven wins and no losses. Practices were held in the boys' junior gym four days a week, and games were played in the senior high gym, Bradfield Center, or on the opposing team's floor.

The Junior Basketballers' practice sessions usually started with free shooting, followed by drills in dribbling, passing, and plays similar to the Varsity's. After a strenuous work out, a scrimmage game closed the practice.

We hope this year's record of eleven wins and no losses will be an incentive to the boys in the future and that they will carry on their tradition of sportsmanship.

As soon as spring rolled around and warmer weather approached, many minds at Central turned to baseball. Last spring the Varsity Baseball team of 1951 practiced after school at Faurot Park in preparation for its initial game. Long hours of training paid off when the team won its opening game.

Although the Dragons lost their first game of the tournament in a thriller against South on May 12 at Faurot Park, they, nevertheless, showed that they had the fighting spirit which will carry them successfully through future years.

Central's track team of 1951 was the best that the school has had in many years. During the season the team stretched its winning streak to twenty-four straight dual meets. From the larger meets the cinder burners brought home to the Dragon Den seventeen trophies and kept for themselves ninety-one medals and forty ribbons. Central High School can justly be proud of the thin clads who upset many teams' apple carts in 1951.

In the past years gold track shoes have been given to the boys who set all-time Central or all-time Lima track records, and this year was no exception. Twelve boys, who wear the kangaroo shoes and the green suits, won these coveted shoes for their efforts.

Many creeks were waded and many miles of fareway were plodded by the boys who made up Central's golf squad last season. Having kept in the swing of things during the summer, the boys were very eager to begin another season at the first sign of spring. They practiced at Shawnee and Lost Creek golf courses, furnishing their own equipment.

Last year the squad won two, tied two, and lost four meets. All of last season's lettermen returned this year to contribute to another successful schedule.

Tennis is a sport which has been playing a prominent part in Central's spring athletic program for many years. Boys interested in this sport devoted a great amount of their summer vacation to practicing. When spring rolled around, they were eager to practice the good points which they had developed during the summer and to work hard at eliminating their faults. This preparation was important, for they competed with some of the most skillful high school tennis players in the state.

Although last season's team was not victorious in any of its meets, it showed great sportsmanship in never giving up in the face of defeat.

Varsity Cheerleaders

In the final minutes of a hard fought game one heard "Fight, team, fight!" yelled by every Central student. Leading these hearty yells were seven peppy girls and a boy chosen by last year's cheerleaders.

Practice sessions were held every Tuesday and Thursday after school. One always found the cheerleaders cheering loyally at all pep rallies and football and basketball games.

The work of this year's cheerleaders will be carried on by those chosen for next year by the former cheerleaders and their advisor. We know that next year's selection will do as fine a job as Central's cheerleaders have always done in the past.

To promote better sportsmanship and to encourage school spirit were the aims of the Pep Club. This organization consisted of the cheerleaders and fifty boys and girls chosen by their homerooms to represent them. It met every first and third Wednesday in room 307 to plan its many activities.

The club planned all pep assemblies and, as a special project, sponsored the South-Central assemblies, during which representatives from South and Central spoke on the approaching game. In order to raise money, red and green shakers to be used during games were made and sold to the students by the members of the club.

The Central "Bloomer Girls," otherwise known as the Girls' Athletic Association, completed another busy year. The one hundred twenty-six athletic-minded girls met in the senior gym at noon, or after school, to play such games as volleyball, basketball, hit pin, table tennis, and badminton.

During the year the schedule for the G.A.A. was full. November 3 it held a party to initiate freshman girls into the organization. February 20 was the date for the annual All-Star party. This was a mother-daughter banquet at which sixteen girls from the freshman through the senior classes were named to the All-Star basketball team. Two "C" days were held November 1 and May 1. During these "C" days all girls who had earned their "C's" in G.A.A. wore them to school all day. The May 1 "C" day consisted of a breakfast to honor the "C" girls. A playday was sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association at Bowling Green University on April 26. This playday was an annual meeting of several girls' athletic associations at which various games were played.

The outstanding event of the year was the annual G.A.A. banquet May 1, at which the Final Emblem Girl was announced. The presentation of awards and the announcement of the G.A.A.'s "Who's Who" election were highlights of the occasion.

"A" is for apple, "B" is for book, but what does "C" stand for? It naturally stands for the energetic "C" girls. Any girl in G. A. A. became a member of this group when her points totaled one thousand. The senior "C" girls alone had the distinction of being the candidates for Final Emblem Girl.

The "C" girls held a "C" day November 1 and May 1. On the May 1 "C" day the members were honored with a breakfast.

Graduates of 1952

Superior salutes you! We're mighty proud of your achievement record . . . and confident that you will shoulder well the responsibilities of leadership in the years ahead.

As young Americans you have a priceless heritage of freedom and justice. The pioneering spirit runs deep in your veins. You are the progressive young men and women who will blaze tomorrow's trails; and we feel sure they will lead to a better world.
Here's to the future. May it bring you every success and happiness!
